

Editorial Rates

The median rates in this chart are based on data generated by a survey administered to EFA members from November 2025 through mid-January 2026. Over 1,100 respondents, representing 30.3% of the EFA's membership, answered questions about the editorial services they provided and the rates they charged for those services during the 2025 calendar year. Because members were instructed to respond only to questions applicable to their own work, the number of responses for each question varied widely.

Please note that this chart uses the industry standard of 250 words per manuscript page.

As a member association, the EFA neither sets rates nor advises members on what rates or rate types to use.

Individual members' rates may vary considerably, depending on multiple factors, including type of work, turnaround time, degree of expertise, local cost of living, training, and years of experience.
